Abstract	This is a diverse collection, including correspondence, drafts of letters, notes and notebooks (on biometric methods; tables and formulae; science, nature and method; coefficient and correlation; vitalism; Japanese language); commonplace book (1924); autobiography; and over one hundred folders of unpublished writings. The correspondence and other material covers a variety of topics, including biology, eugenics, evolution and natural selection, human heredity, paramecia, protozoa genetics, U.S. immigration policy. There is much on the Seventh International Congress of Zoology (1907); letters to his father and wives, and from students and colleagues on his seventy-fifth birthday, 1943 (1 v.); diplomas and certificates of membership; and photographs.

Background note

Herbert Spencer Jennings (1868-1947, APS 1907) was a microbiologist, zoologist and geneticist. In his critical monograph Contributions to the Study of the Behavior of Lower Organisms (1904) Jennings challenged the theory physicochemical tropisms in animals championed by Jacques Loeb (1859-1924, APS 1899), and brought single-celled organisms into the realm of psychology. He also helped to found the field of mathematical genetics by systematically applying principles of Mendelian theory to his calculations of expectable ratios of the traits in various types of inheritance. Jennings's most important contribution to genetics was his investigation of the questions of variation and evolution that confirmed the gradual but persistent progress of the latter by the accrual of very slight alterations.

Jennings was born on April 8, 1868, the son of physician George Nelson Jennings and Olive Taft Jenks, in Tonica, Illinois. He learned to read at a very early age, by delving into his father's extensive home library. From 1874-1879 the family lived in various localities in California, before returning to Tonica, Illinois, where Jennings attended a public high school. After high school, he studied at the Illinois Normal School near Bloomington (now Illinois State University) in 1887-88, then briefly taught in rural schools near his home in Tonica. At the age of twenty-one in 1889 without a degree, Jennings served as assistant professor of botany and horticulture at the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas (later Texas A & M University).

In 1890 Jennings matriculated at the University of Michigan, where he studied with the young zoologist and ichthyologist Jacob Reighard. He graduated with a B.S. in 1893. After a year of graduate study at Michigan, Jennings moved on to Harvard to study with Reighard's mentor Edward Laurens Mark at the Zoological Laboratory. He received an M.A. from Harvard in 1895 and a Ph.D. in 1896. His thesis was on the embryology of a rotifer. As a graduate student, Jennings was influenced by Charles Benedict Davenport (1866-1944, APS 1907), then a Harvard instructor, to shift his interests from descriptive to experimental biology. After completing his doctorate, Jennings was awarded the Parker traveling fellowship, which allowed him during the winter of 1896-97 to study the response of the Paramecium to stimuli with pioneering researcher on protozoan behavior Max Verworn at the University of Jena. In the spring of 1897 Jennings worked at the Naples Zoological Laboratory. Returning home that summer, he held several one-year appointments as professor of botany at the Montana State Agricultural and Mechanical College (1897-98) and as instructor in zoology at Dartmouth (1898-99) to replace a professor on leave. Also in 1898 Jennings wed Mary Louise Burrige, an artist and a son born to them later that year.

In 1899 Jennings became a zoology instructor at the University of Michigan, progressing to the rank of assistant professor in 1901. Also, in 1901 he coauthored a textbook with Reighard, entitled the Anatomy of the Cat. During his summers at the University of Michigan, Jennings continued to serve under Reighard's supervision as an assistant with the Michigan lake surveys. In 1902 he was appointed program director for the U.S. Fish Commission Biological Survey of the Great Lakes.

In 1903 Jennings became assistant professor of zoology at the University of Pennsylvania and was allowed a one-year leave to return to the Naples Zoological Laboratory, funded by a grant from the Carnegie Institution. He published the results of his research the following year as Contributions to the Study of the Behavior of Lower Organisms (1904). In 1906 Jennings moved on to Johns Hopkins University to become professor of experimental zoology. Here he was assigned light teaching duties and provided with a laboratory. In 1910 he was promoted to become Henry Walters Professor of Zoology and directed the zoological laboratory until his retirement in 1938.

Even before his post-doctoral studies, Jennings pursued experimental research on the behavior of primitive animals and their reactions to stimuli. Of his many published papers, Jennings's study of "The Psychology of a Protozoan" (1899) sparked the strongest reaction. He had become greatly interested in the complex behavior of these single-celled microorganisms, which he attributed to their entire structure. These views drew fire from University of Chicago biologist Jacques Loeb, who maintained the reactions of all life forms could ultimately be explained as physical or chemical reactions [i.e. tropisms]. However, at a scientific meeting in 1900 Jennings provided experimental demonstrations to prove the validity of his theory, and obtained the agreement of Loeb.

In 1900 Jennings was one of the many biologists inspired to study genetics by the rediscovery of Gregor Mendel's work on inheritance in plants. In his laboratory at Johns Hopkins he began to study the genetics and evolution of two species of single-celled organisms, the Paramecium and Diffugia. His goal was to discover the origin of hereditary variations in organisms, whose reproduction is primarily asexual. Jennings based his research on the characteristics of individual organisms (aggregating these results statistically, rather than studying them as groups). He discovered that the progeny of the individual organisms were identical with the "parent" organisms. Further studies by Jennings's graduate students showed that the same is true of multicellular organisms, reproducing by asexual means. Systematically applying Mendelian theory to his samples, he helped to found the field of mathematical genetics by calculating the expectable ratios of traits in various types of inheritance. Jennings's greatest contributions to genetics related to questions of variation and evolution. From 1908 to 1916 Jennings and his students published a number of papers, discussing the constancy and variability of traits in protozoan lines of inheritance. He demonstrated that within a given species there are a number of particular strains whose traits endure for many generations. However, he also noticed the spontaneous development of very slight, but persistent variations. The net effect of his work was to modify the theory of mutations, since the alterations he observed were so slight that they suggested evolution proceeded gradually by means of very small (rather than abrupt) changes. A contemporary university publication offered a somewhat exaggerated description of Jennings as the first scientific researcher "to actually see and control the process of evolution among living things."

After Jennings's appointment as Director of Johns Hopkins zoological laboratory, he had less time to spend on his own research, but continued to supervise the work of graduate students. He also produced an important series of writings that popularized genetics and discussed the philosophical implications of the new methods and findings of experimental biology. His popular books, that included Life and Death: Heredity and Evolution in Unicellular Organisms (1920), Prometheus; or, Biology and the Advancement of Man (1925), The Biological Basis of Human Nature (1930) and The Universe and Life (1933) focused on the central finding of his lifework that biological processes are identical across the animal kingdom. In 1935 he also authored a textbook entitled Genetics.

In 1938 his wife Mary died, shortly after Jennings's retirement from Johns Hopkins, and the following spring he accepted a position as visiting professor at the University of California at Los Angeles. There at the age of seventy he resumed his research on the Paramecium, about which he published several new papers. In 1939 he married Lulu Plant Jennings, his brother's widow.

Throughout his career Jennings held memberships and offices in many scientific societies and learned organizations. He was elected to the American Philosophical Society in 1907. He was also a member of the American Zoological Society (President, 1908-09), the Philadelphia Academy of Natural Sciences, the American Society of Naturalists (1910-11) and a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences (in 1914). Internationally, Jennings was an honorary fellow of the Royal Microscopical Society in Great Britain, a member of the Royal Society of Edinburgh, a member of the Société de Biologie de Paris and a corresponding member of the Russian Academy of Science.

In addition to his many scholarly and popular books on biology and genetics, Jennings published numerous papers in zoological and physiological journals. He was also the Associate Editor of the Journal of Experimental Zoology and Genetics and of the Biological Bulletin.

Jennings spent his final years in Los Angeles, California. He died in Santa Monica, California on April 14, 1947.

Scope & content

A diversified collection of great size. Includes correspondence, miscellaneous papers, diaries, manuscripts (many unpublished), notebooks, lecture notes, syllabi of courses taught by Jennings at Johns Hopkins University, scrapbooks, memorabilia, etc. Correspondents in the Jennings papers include: T. T. Chen (research assistant), Samuel W. Geiser (graduate student), Arthur O. Lovejoy (colleague), Ruth Stocking Lynch (graduate student and research assistant), Samuel Ottmar Mast (graduate student and colleague), and Tracy M. Sonneborn (graduate student and colleague).

Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.

10-1/2x8

Lecture given at Bozeman, Montana, on Naples;

ca. A.D. 31p. (see H.S.Jennings papers. no.1.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.]

1913-1914

11x8-1/2

Lectures: Genetics.

Law of ancestral inheritance; A.D. 32p. (see H.S. Jennings papers. no. 10.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.]

1913-1914

11x8-1/2

Lectures: Genetics.

Papers

Law of ancestral inheritance. Changes during longcontinued breeding; A.D. 26p. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 11.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] 1920 11x8-1/2

Biology and the principles of human conduct;

A.D. 28p. In pencil. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 12.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] 1920 11x8-1/2

Lectures: Genetics.

Inheritance of acquired characteristics; A.D. 132p. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 13.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] 1920 8-1/2x5-1/2

Biometry and the law of probabilities;

A.D. 68 leaves. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 14.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] 1920-1921 11x8-1/2

Lectures: Genetics.

Pure line work; A.D. 45p. (see H.S. Jennings papers. no. 15.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] 1920-1921 11x8-1/2

Lectures: Effects of selection;

A.D. 66 leaves. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 16.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] 1920-1921

Lectures: Method of evolution;

A.D. 232 leaves. Various sizes. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 17.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] 1921

Address: On the advantages of growing old;

A.D. 81 leaves. Various sizes. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 18.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] 1921 8-1/2x5-1/2

Biometry notes;

Papers

A.D. 55 leaves. (see H.S. Jennings papers. No. 19.)

Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947. 1913

Number of pairs drawn when individuals are taken at random;

A.D. 102 leaves. Various sizes. (see H.S. Jennings. Papers, no.2.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] 1922 11x8-1/2

The arithmetic of heredity and variation;

A.D. 147 leaves and copy of R.W. Emerson's Tables of Probable errors...and J.R. Miner's Tables... (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 20) ---Typed copy of 100 pages and carbon copy of 97 pages.

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] 1922

Concerning the lunatic fringe;

A.D. 15 leaves. Various sizes. (see H.S. Jennings, no. 21.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] 1922

Biometry notes;

A.D. 13 leaves and 1 notebook consisting of 30 leaves, of which 25 contain writing. Various sizes. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 22.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] 1922

Material pertaining to the Mendel-Pasteur centennial celebration at St. Louis;

A.D. 8 leaves, 8 newspaper items, and invitation to the celebration. Various sizes. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 23.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] 1923 8-1/2x5-1/2

Leidy's zoological work;

A.D. 12p. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 24.) ----Typed copies (3) and galley sheets as printed in Scientific monthly. Printed: Acad. of nat.sci, Phila. Proceedings, 1923; and Scientific monthly, vol.18.

August Weismann and W. Roux;

[ca.] A.D. 39p. (see H.S. Jennings papers. No. 4.) (Is this a translation from Radl: Later fortunes of the theory of natural selection?)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] Dec. 1, 1928 11x8-1/2
Lecture: Biological results of race crossing;

A.D. 45 leaves. In pencil. (see H.S. Jennings papers. No. 40.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] 1928
Seminary talks: Emergent evolution;

A.D. 124 leaves. In pencil. Various sizes. (see H.S. Jennings papers. No. 41.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] 1928 11x8-1/2
Creation by evolution;

A.D. 28p. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 42.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] 1929 11x8-1/2
Genetics of the protozoa (outline or resumé);

Typed D. 23p. Copy. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 43.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] May 13, 1929
Lecture: History of zoology in America;

A.D. 86 leaves. Various sizes. (see H.S. Jennings papers. no. 44.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] 1929-1930 11x8-1/2
Lecture: Genetics.

Changes in hereditary characteristics; A.D. and mimeographed D. 264 leaves. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 45.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] Oct. 14, 1930 8-1/2x5-1/2

Papers

Lecture: Biological background of social work (incomplete);

A.D. 18 leaves. (see H.S. Jennings papers. No. 46.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] May 22, 1930 8-1/2x5-1/2

Lecture: Identical twins;

A.D. 16 leaves. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 47.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] Oct. 17, 1932 11x8-1/2

Lecture: Can men be bettered psychologically and ethically by breeding?;

A.D. 34 leaves. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 48.) ----Typed copy and carbon copy, each of 30p.

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] 1932-1933 11x8-1/2

Lecture: Religion in the light of science;

A.and typed D. 59 leaves. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 49.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] 1919 8-3/4x5-1/2

Concerning protozoon genetics;

A.D. 46 leaves. (see H.S. Jennings. No. 5.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] 1933 (?) 8-1/2x5-1/2

Concerning Japan;

A.D. 89 leaves. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 50.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] Dec. 29, May 24, 1932, 1933

Protozoon problems;

A.D. 71 leaves. Various sizes. (see H.S. Jennings papers. no. 51.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] 1933 11x8-1/2

Lectures: Biologists outlook on the world;

Typed D. 32p. Copy. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 52.)

Papers

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.]	1933	11x8-1/2
Lecture: Biologists outlook on the world (Philadelphia lecture);
A.D. 35 leaves. (see H.S. Jennings papers. no. 53.) Typed copy of 29 leaves.
[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.]	Feb. March, 1933, 1935	11x8-1/2
Concerning twins;
A.and typed D. 45 leaves. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 54.)
[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.]		11x8-1/2
Lecture: Genetics.
Changes in hereditary characteristics and in the genetic mechanism; 1933-1934. A.D. 573 leaves. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 55.)
[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.]	1933-1934
Lectures: Statistics;
A.D. 425 leaves. Various sizes. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 56.)
[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.]	1934	11x8-1/2
Concerning the role of the school;
A.D. 29 leaves. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 57.)
[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.]	1934-1935	11x8-1/2
Lecture: Mutations;
A.D. 212 leaves. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 58.)
[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.]	1934-1935	11x8-1/2
Lecture: Genetic variations;
A.D. 39 leaves. (see H.S. Jennings papers. No. 59.)
[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.]	Dec. 24, 1919	11x8-1/2, 8-1/2x5-1/2
Concerning inheritance in pure lines;

Papers

A.D. 54 leaves. (see H.S. Jennings papers. No. 6.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] 1934-1935 11x8-1/2

Lecture: Genetics.

Types of genetic variation in relation to evolution and to environment; A.and typed D. 11 leaves. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 60.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] 1934-1935 11x8-1/2

Lecture: Genetics.

Changes in chromosomes; A.D. 26 leaves. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 61.)

De Garis, Charles F [1934] 11x8-1/2

Heritable effects of conjugation between free individuals and double monsters in diverse races of paramecium caudatum;

Typed D. 76 leaves and 2 illustrations, sent to H.S. Jennings. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 62.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] April 27, 1935 5-1/2x4-1/4

Lecture: The universe and life;

A.D. 49 leaves. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 63.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] 1935 (?) 8-1/2x5-1/2

Concerning Japan;

A.D. 106 leaves and 1 newspaper clipping (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 64.)

Jennings, H[erbert] S[pencer], 1868-1947. 1935

Review of Alexis Carrel's book, Man, the Unknown;

A.D.S. 8p.and 43p.of notes. Various sizes. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 65.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] 1935 11x8-1/2

Lecture: Behavior of lower organisms;

A.D. 72 leaves. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 66.)

Papers

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] Jan. 16, 1935 11x8-1/2
 Lecture: Zoological seminary: Present day questions in biology;

A.D. 24p. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 67.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] Feb. 6, April 10, 1935 11x8-1/2
 Lecture: Zoological seminary:
 Indeterminism in relation to uncertainty;

A.D. and typed D. 35 leaves. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 68.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] Feb., 1935
 Report to the genetics conference on the crossing in paramecium;

A.D. 47 leaves. Various sizes. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 69.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] 1912-1913
 Seminar reports: On the nature of science, etc.;

D. 66p. Various sizes. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 7.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] March 6, 1935 11x8-1/2
 Lecture on the crossing in paramecium;

A.D. 47 leaves. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 70.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] 1935 11x8-1/2
 Resumé of The Universe and Life;

A.D. 53 leaves. (see H.S. Jennings papers. No. 71.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] Feb. 1, Feb. 12, 1935, 1936 11x8-1/2
 Lecture: Concerning the role of mutation in evolution;

A.D. 41 leaves. Presented to the A.P.S. Feb. 1, 1935. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 72.)

Papers

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] June 3, 1936 11x8-1/2
Lecture: Biological recommendations for the ills of mankind;

Typed and A.D. 72 leaves. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 73.)

Jennings, H[erbert] S[pencer], 1868-1947. Oct. 10, 1936 11x8-1/2
Fundamental units in biology;

Typed D. 17 leaves. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 74.) ----Galley proof from Science. 5p.

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] Dec. 21, 1936 8-1/2x5-1/2
Lecture: Experiences at Oxford;

A.D. 74 leaves. (see H.S. Jennings papers. No. 75.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] 1936-1937 11x8-1/2
Lecture: Genetics;

A.D. 463 leaves. (see H.S. Jennings, papers, no. 76.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] Sept., Jan., 1937-1938
Tables: Paramecium, etc.;

A.D. 22 items. Various sizes. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 77.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] March, 1939
The genetics of paramecium bursaria:
mating types and groups;

Typed and A.D. 81 leaves and illustrations. Various sizes. (see H.S. Jennings papers. No. 78.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] 1940
Chromosomes and cytoplasm in protozoa;

A.D. 26p. and 83p. of notes, with 5p. of galley proof. Various sizes. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 79.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] 1914 11x8-1/2
Lectures: Sex determination in bees, moulds, plants, etc.;

Papers

A.D. 58p. (see H. S. Jennings papers, no. 8.)

[Jennings, Herbert Spencer, 1868-1947.] 1940 11x8-1/2
 Heredity in protozoa;

Typed and A.D. 82 leaves. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 80.)

Jennings, H[erbert] S[pencer], 1868-1947. 1941 11x8-1/2
 Hereditary status of the rhizopods;

Typed D. 25p. (see H.S. Jennings papers. No. 81.)

Jennings, H[erbert] S[pencer], 1868-1947. 1941 11x8-1/2
 The laws of heredity and our present knowledge of human genetics...;

A. and typed D. 157ms.leaves and 92 typed leaves. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 82.)

Jennings, H[erbert] S[pencer], 1868-1947. 1941
 The beginnings of social behavior in unicellular organisms;

Typed D. 34p.and carbon, with 7p.of galley proof. Various sizes. (see H.S. Jennings Papers, no. 83.)

Jennings, H[erbert] S[pencer], 1868-1947. 1941
 Genetics of paramecium;

Typed D. 83p.with 3p.figures, also 29p. of galley proof. Various sizes. (see H.S. Jennings papers, no. 84.) Printed in APS Proceedings,vol.85.

Gause, G[eorge] F[rancis], 1910- 1940
